SAID IN CYPRESS

By Newsy

Wesley Kroeze, of the dairy supply and equipment firm of the same name, has a new friend. He is a lovely maltese cat, who adopted our hero, and bids fare to become a permanent fixture of the Kroeze household. The stunt which did the trick is the way Mr. Maltese climbs on Kroeze's shoulder, then curls himself around his neck, sort of fur piece style. From where we stand he looks like a "best in his class" stray — sort of like that Mr. Schnicklefritz, or whatever his name was over in Buena Park. For an "alley cat" he won so many prizes the owners recently shipped him away because he couldn't win any higher ones.

Have you read any of the publicity that Mrs. Glenn Hubbard's father has been getting over his banana crop? R. C. Menker, a retired minister, lives in Huntington Park with his wife. Outside their house bananas grow. And they are good to eat. In fact, the family doesn't like any other bananas. Since 1937, Menker has picked bananas. The fruit has ripened at one time or another during every month of the year, but not consecutively, for fourteen years. Mrs. Hubbard's grandfather, her father's father, bought 80 acres of land in Orange county many years ago when the family lived in northern California. The family still holds forty acres at the ranch site, 8121 Miller road. But the bananas won't grow in a county reserved for oranges. Menker attributes their phennomenal existence in Huntington Park to exposure from the right direction and the fact that he has a tile roof on the house which shelters just right and holds the heat just right for bananas.

No every doting aunt has a whole column to devote to the cute sayings of the kiddies in her family. We'll tell you about young Jimmy Kroesen back in Scranton, Iowa, a kindergartner. (Not to be confused with James Burton Kroesen II in Buena Park, age eight.)

It seems the local doctor was a dinner guest recently. Jim, who has heard the pastor on Sunday mornings frequently, has been asking the blessing at his own request.

This was his prayer on this auspicious occasion, delivered in halting sentences as his eyes swept over the table. "Heavenly God, we thank thee for this heavenly food, the heavenly spoons, and the heavenly milk from the heavenly cows. Amen."

It is said not a muscle in the medico's face moved, but Jimmy's mother was heard to titter audibly.

Meanest?

Cypress has its own version of the "meanest man", or "mean widdie kid." At least, Alan Lowder, 8911 Watson st. believes that such a person exists.

Only seven years old, Alan rode his bike over to the playgrounds at the school Sunday afternoon to call his brother home to supper. There's room to squeeze a kid through the gate, but not a bike, so he left it temporarily leaning against the fence, 'longside an old broken down bike with most of its parts missing. His bike was a 24" maroon and white J. C. Higgins. But the one left for him when he came back—you guessed it.

Alan misses his bike like most kids would miss a beloved pet—probably most because he knows how hard it was to get a new one in the first place.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Lowder, who would welcome any information.

CLERIC UNDER KNIFE

Sunday morning worshippers of the Rev. W. D. Howard's Cypress Church of the Nazarene had no idea when they shook hands with him after the service that he would be hospitalized a short half hour later. Friends were shocked to learn that the minister was stricken and underwent surgery at three o'clock that afternoon in Artesia hospital for a herniotomy with complications.

Fate stepped in to change the Rev. Mr. Howard's plans completely, since he had made all necessary arrangements for the performance of his pastoral duties for a few days in order that he might visit his brother in Texas. He was planning to leave Sunday afternoon.

The patient is progressing satisfactorily and a full and complete recovery is expected.

KELLEY JOINS FRANK NOE INSURANCE

Announcement was made this week that Haskell Kelley will be associated with Frank Noe in the insurance business. They handle all kinds of insurance except life, Kelley said.

For the present time, Kelley will continue to maintain a business office in his home, 8774 Watson st. Noe and his brother, Foster Noe, operate the Cypress hardware.

Rebekah Head Names New Committees

Standing committees in the Busy Bee Rebekah lodge No. 406 have been announced for the coming year by the new noble grand, Mrs. Vickie Milbourn. Mmes. Ethel Cleveland, Evie Junker and Christine Cardin form the examining committee. Finance is composed of Mmes. Dolly Teutschman, Bessie McCoy and Dorothy Beason; ways and means is Mmes. Thelma Essex, Leona Caul, Kay Jackson and Evie Junker.

Hrs. Helen Wilson and Mrs. Aliene Kelley comprise the resolutions committee and cards and flowers, Mrs. Doris Coakley. Publicity committee is Mmes. Olive Williams and Dorothy Beason, good fellowship, Mrs. Jean Kreissler and historian Mrs. Christine Cardin, who also represents the group on the coordinating council. Hospitality and drill captain are Mrs. Junker and Mrs. Beason respectively.

Mrs. Milbourn, Mrs. Essex the vice grand and all members are on the visiting committee.

Coordinating Council Reelects Same Officers For Another Year

When members of the Cypress Coordinating council met last Thursday evening, their present roster of officers was reelected at the anual election for another year. H.J.G. "Happy" Kreissler will continue as president and Mrs. James Broadbelt will again assume the responsibilities of the secretary-treasurer. The dinner meeting was held at a popular Garden Grove restaurant.

In order to avoid duplications of asistance, the secretary was instructed to write to the various welfare organizations which operate in this section asking them to contact her first for a report on what relief work might already have been done.

A financial report was given which has been published in these columns previously. A suggestion was made that the group plan early next fall for a benefit movie for the youngsters. Admission would be a can of food which could be used in the baskets donated at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

No new meeting date was established to replace the Thursday evening which is now the regular meeting of the Cypress chamber of commerce.

A report was heard concerning the purchase of a resuscitator and four 100% wool blankets for use of the volunteer firemen which was acomplished without the need of donated funds of the organiaztions represented on the council. The firemen are receiving instruction on how to utilize the apparatus.

Many Attend

Wives and husbands of the members of the coordinating council were guests at the dinner. Atending were Frank Noe, representing the Kiwanis club and Mrs. Noe; A. E. Arnold, Fire department, and Mrs. Arnold; Mrs. Harry Smits, Cypress P.T.A. and Smits; Mrs. Murton Jones, Cypress Community Club, and Jones; John Thomas, Cypress Odd Fellows and Mrs. Thomas; Rev. William Howard, Cypress Church of the Nazarene; Mrs. Darrell Cardin, Busy Bee Rebekahs; Mrs. Bessie McCoy, Cypress Baptist church; Mrs. Milam Williams, VFW auxiliary; Kreissler, VFW,

Mrs. Bakker's Mother Taken To Hospital

Mrs. Granville Lillard has been a patient in Beverly hospital, Montebello, where she underwent major surgery last week. She is the mother of Mrs. Dick Bakker, this city, and was a member of the Rebekah Lodge here at one time. There are two other daughters.

The Lillard family has lived in the home at the corner of Carmenita (Moody) and Artesia streets for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Lillard have resided there for over thirty-two years, and others in the family occupied the place for a total of well over fifty years.

SAVE LAD'S LIFE

A litle boy was kept alive Tuesday, thanks to the quick action of his father in getting him to the Cypress volunteer firemen's new resuscitator. John Lorin Southfield, three years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Southfield, who live at the Southfield family dairy, 6062 Crescent avenue, was stricken with convulsions. His father did what he could to help give him air, and made a dash for the fire station.

First to arrive at the fire house were Gene Kelley, who manipulated the apparatus, and A. E. Arnold, who assisted. This was the first time firemen have been called upon to use the recently acquired resuscitator. All of the volunteers have received instruction in its operation. It is reported the boy was not breathing upon arrival at the fire station. He was taken ill very suddenly, at about 3:35 p.m. Later an ambulance removed him to Orange county hospital where he was placed under an oxygen tent.

Volunteer firemen here are extremely grateful, they stated, to the donors who made the resuscitator possible for this community.

LATE FLASH!

A late report from Dr. Emma Wharton, of the county health department, stated that little Johnny was not a polio victim. She said the convulsion was probably due to fever, and that he is getting along fine.

LIBRARY OPEN HOUSE

Monday the Cypress library, a branch of the Orange county free library system, will celebrate its recent move into new, enlarged quarters, with an open house.

The Junior Woman's club of Cypress will sponsor the affair. Hostesses will be Mrs. Norville Chapman, president, Mrs. Howard Minnick, Mrs. James Palmer, and Mrs. Harry Smitts, president of the local P.T.A.

Margaret Morrison, county librarian, will be present, as well as A. J. McFadden, supervisor from this district; C. M. Featherly, supervisor from the first district; William Eckles, county maintenance department, and A. E. Arnold, owner of the new quarters at 5541 Lincoln avenue.

Mrs. R. O. King, librarian, is especially anxious that the public visit during two to four o'clock Monday afternoon, February 11 and get acquainted.

MEDICS CHANGE NIGHT

Members of the medical group who have been attending meetings on the fourth Monday night of the month will note a change in nights.

Meetings will be held on the second Thursday night of the month until further notice.

VALENTINE'S DAY

In a world where sentiment is much overshadowed by cynicism it is well that we preserve such frivolous occasions as Valentine's Day. As a kid, there were few greater thrills in life than that of giving your best girl a valentine—unless it was the hoped-for reaction when you watched her open it.

As an adult, you may feel that Valentine's Day has lost its meaning. But if you remember the little woman with a simple gift for the occasion you'll find that thoughtfulness and affection always have meaning. And that's the spirit of Valentine's Day

I RISE TO REMARK

By JOHN PHILLIPS

The President sent his budget to Congress. The newspapers took a picture of his secretary getting into a car with the big book, on the way to deliver it to the clerk of the House.

The reports generally spoke of the request as being for $84.2 billion. That omits the additional $3.2 billion to pay previous authorizations. The total is $87.4 billion. Last year, in addition to the regular budget, we were asked for $10.9 billion in subsequent deficiency items. The President himself sensing the attitude of the people at home, cut that to $7.3 billion and Congress finally approved less than $7. billion. So we may be assured that $87.4 billion is not the final figure, and that the total appropriations for government, including defense ,for the next year, will be close to $100 billion. That is a lot of money. It is too much for federal government to spend under any conditions short of all-out war.

We expect an income of $71. billion. On the most hopeful figures, we are short $14. billion. The President, in the accompanying message, called for the additional taxes Congress denied him last year, and pointed out that even those would not balance the budget. That is a significant part of the message. Deficit financing now has the official blessing of the President.

Figures are not always easy to understand. A few disconnected comments may be more interesting.

The message calls for the greatest expenditures since World War II. Lip service only is given to economy, or the end of duplications, or of waste. The President suggests that many programs have been curtailed that would be included in "normal times." Among the items included are the following:

Federal housing $325,000,000; federal aid to highways and forests $417,000,000; the St. Lawrence Seaway $20,000,000; to disperse government agencies $15,000,000; increased public assistance $100,000,000; aid to college students $30,000,000; federal aid to education $300,000,000, not including aid to educate children on federal properties, which is another $80,000,000; flood insurance $50,000,000; mutual security, another name for foreign aid, $7,900,000,000.

One wonders what the requests would be in normal times, if these present a curtailed program.

The holders of maturing bonds are not to be paid off, but are to be given another bond for an additional ten years.

The public debt will reach $275. billion on June 30, 1953. How did the President fix it to reach that figure exactly on the last day of the fiscal year? I have a bill in to set the debt limit at $265. billion. The nation-wide reaction is favorable.

The President asks for another increase in postal rates. How do you like the 2c postal card? And the fact that you can't redeem your old postal cards at full value?

Eleven new steam and electric generating plants are requested, to be built at federal expense. The President asks for a steam generating plant for the Pacific Northwest. That is where we boast of the tremendous potential of water power.

The President wants $57. million to "improve" Indian lands. Off hand, I figure that is about $1 per acre.

The International wheat agreement is estimated to cost $182. million. That is only about 4 times what its proponents said it would cost when the bill was presented to the Congress.

Legislation is asked for medical aids, although no money is requested. This is the foot-in-the-door theory.

By the end of 1953, 7,800,000 veterans will have received education and training, at an average cost of about $2000 each. This is approximately 50% of the veterans. 134,000 veterans will be in VA hospitals, and the President says two-thirds will be non-service connected.

The President wants to start a federal bureau to prevent accidents. This is unnecessary; what is going to happen next November will not be an accident!

COUNTY COMMENT

By GEORGE E. HART

Boiling down the several hundred local city and county sales taxes now cluttering the California scene, into one state sales tax of four cents instead of the present three cents, which would (1) give the cities more than they get now, (2) add another quarter-cent to state revenues, and (3) also cut the counties in for a sizable sum, is the wholly laudable purpose of a move now afoot in government circles.

It is laudable because it assertedly will not dig any deeper into the tattered purse of the taxpayer, and will relieve the befuddled retailer of keeping tab on the maze of local sales and use taxes now epidemic in the cities of this state. Perhaps the suicide rate will come down.

You may wonder what sort of legerdemain produces more money out of one four-cent state sales tax than from the same total tax spread among the cities. Strictly speaking, it is not the same total now, as some cities have less than a cent local sales tax, and some cities and most counties have none at all. But this proposal deals with futures—near futures. Before long, it is believed, virtually all cities and counties will have local sales or use taxes, unless the new plan of placing all eggs in one state basket is adopted.

As for the plan producing more for all, it is easy to figure in the case of cities now collecting less than a cent. For the rest, the answer seems to be in collection costs. Gathering the collection into one agency, the state, would add little or nothing to the state's present costs. And it would serve those collection costs in all cities and counties having a local tax.

However, while the state tax would produce more for cities as a whole, some cities would get more by sticking to their local tax, as will be shown later.

But certainly sales taxes would be simplified by the unification. As of last November 15 there were 152 California cities with local sale or use taxes, 11 having been added during the year. Increasing revenue pressures are expected to make local city and county sales taxes a general thing before long. That would make 363 separate sales or use taxes confronting the California taxpayer, it is said.

It is that assumption which furnishes the estimate that substitution of another cent of state sales tax for all local city and county sales or use taxes will not increase the total tax but will increase the revenue yield, so that the state, the cities as whole, and the counties all can get more money.

Present proposal is that the state would keep 25 per cent of collections under the added tax. The counties would get 75 per cent of the tax collected from unincorporated territory, plus 7.5 cents of taxes collected within the cities, since part of that tax comes from rural residents. The cities would get 67.5 per cent of collections

OUR DEMOCRACY——by Mat

"GOOD MEN and TRUE"

THE TWO FUNDAMENTALS IN OUR AMERICAN SYSTEM OF JUSTICE ARE: THE LEGAL PROVISION THAT A PERSON ON TRIAL MUST BE PRESUMED INNOCENT UNTIL PROVEN GUILTY— AND THE RIGHT OF TRIAL BY JURY, WHICH PROTECTS THE INDIVIDUAL AND SAFEGUARDS SOCIETY AGAINST IRRESPONSIBLE POWER.

IT IS AN INTEGRAL PART OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP TO SUPPORT AND STRENGTHEN THIS SYSTEM OF JUSTICE BY SERVICE ON A JURY—TO REGARD IT AS A DUTY TO BE ACCEPTED WITH PRIDE AND EXERCISED WITH FULL REALIZATION THAT SUCH SERVICE IS VITAL TO THE MAINTAINANCE OF DEMOCRACY.

within their boundaries.

The State Association of County Supervisors, headed by Willard Smith of Orange as its president, and the California League of Municipalities are studying the proposal.

The one-cent added state sales tax would produce an estimated $130,000,000, giving the state $32,500,000. While there is no immediate need of extra state revenues, in view of the considerable surplus, state officials foresee heavy demands on the general fund for school needs and other projects before long.

Cities of the state would get $78,871,000 and the counties $18,629,000. In Orange county it is estimated that the 13 cities would receive $1,078,000, while the county would get $495,000.

Using as examples two Orange county cities which now collect a local tax of one cent, data is furnished showing how they would fare. Laguna Beach now gets $110,832 (1951-52) from its local tax, and would get $114,517 under a state tax. But Newport Beach, now getting $127,012 from its local tax, would get only $93,142 under the state tax.

No city could be forced to give up its local sales or use tax, of course, but would not be eligible to share the state tax if it kept its local tax. In the case of Newport Beach the choice would be easy. Also easy enough for those cities which now have no tax or collect less than a cent. For the rest it might be a gamble.

It is easy to see that a lot of pencils will be sharpened at city halls in the next few weeks.

Special Kiwanis Night

Members of the Cypress Kiwanis club will witness a microwave demonstration on "Ladies night" February 11 beginning with a seven o'clock dinner at the elementary school. The meal will be served by the Busy Bee Rebekah lodge.

Daniel G. Strebel will present the program, representing the public information department of the Pacific Telephone company. He has been affiliated with them for eleven years, and has been active in public information work, giving lectures and demonstrations, for over four years. This program is very timely, according to chairman Haskell Kelley. It will take a good share of the afternoon to set up the equipment on the stage of the auditorium, which will demonstrate how the telephone industry carries television, radio programs, and hundreds of telephone calls simultaneously from the Atlantic coast to southern California. With this equipment Strebel will actually transmit a radio beam across the stage.

Representatives Elected

At the meeting Monday night in Loyd's drive-in, three men were elected to represent the club on civic groups.

New representatives for the park board will be Jim Schmitt and George Ogata, while Frank Noe was chosen to be the Kiwanis delegate on the coordinating council.

Several members taken in during the past few months were officially welcomed. Frank Noe, chairman of the Kiwanis education committee conducted the introductions, and the welcoming speech was given by Dr. Ray Temple. New members were Walter James, Ed Robinson, John Renema, Ralph Thomas, Jack Webber, Carl Sanders, Jr., and George Ogata.

Guest of the club was C. J. Elliott of Long Beach. Miss Alene Rogers acompanied the group on the piano for singing.

Friends Fete George Konig's In New Home

Mrs. George Konig was told by her sister, Mrs. Gene Kelley, to expect friends of theirs from Tulare Saturday night. So she hurried around and baked a cake. Great was Mr. and Mrs. Konig's surprise when they opened the door to twenty-nine guests who gathered to congratulate them in the lovely new home they have occupied for only a short time on De Long st.

Guests presented the honored couple with a beautiful lamp for their picture window, and with other gifts. They brought well-filled baskets and a supper was enjoyed later in the evening.

Hostessed by Mrs. Kelley and the girls' mother, Mrs. W. J. McCoid, those present at the affair in addition were Mssrs and Mmes. Don Caul, A. E. Arnold, Al Petrie, Earl Essex, Elmer Corby, Carl Sanders, Price Seibert, Everett Simpson, Don Bernhart, Eldon Denney, John Gilchrist, Mrs. Harry Torrance, Mrs. H. Lembke, Mrs. Vic Konig, McCoid and Kelley.

Unable to be present were Mssrs. and Mmes. H. A. Kelley, Harold Pugh, Phil Bischof, Edwin Robinson, Vic Sherron, Bill Lightfoot, and George Winfield, the expected couple.

Howard McGraw's 211 was partially responsible for the VFW No. 3 team's 4-0 victory over Buena Real Estate in the same league. He was followed in scoring honors by Dan Spencer, who rolled a 166.

HELP OFFERED FOR INCOME TAX REPORT

Residents of North Orange County will again have the opportunity of consulting with a representative of the Collector of Internal Revenue without a trip to Santa Ana, regarding the preparation of their income tax returns, if they desire to take advantage of an arrangement which is announced by chief of the Santa Ana Division.

Santa Ana, a permanent office of the Collector, will be open at 710 N. Main st. every week-day, except Saturdays, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The close of the filing period is March 15. A temporary office will be open in Anaheim's city hall February 26-28.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dines have moved from 5692 Vonnie Lane into their new home at 5552 Saint Ann ave.

'Chit-Chat from The Teeners'

By Gloria McKinzie and her helpers

Cypress made quite a showing at Home Town Jamboree Saturday night. Those seen there were Rosetta Smith, Narcie Ferreira, Delores Cardin, Frank Ferreira, Delores Coelho, Joey Mello, Lolly Slabaugh, Marian Simmons, Louise Garvin and the Cypress boys. They were on television during the waltz contest.

Marian went to the show Friday night with Ronnie Lamb.

Lee Adkins was seen in town Saturday and Sunday. Was sure good to see him again.

Shirlee Boudreau and Dale were seen at the show in L. B. Saturday night.

Friday night, Bonnie Ellsworth and Ronnie Mosby were seen at the Circle Drive-in.

Kay Kelliker, Bobby Sanders, Donna Reafsnyder, and Fred Head went to the show Friday night. Why were they seen walking down Walker st. in the middle of the night? ! ! !

Helen Strickland received her ring from Melvin Sheppard Saturday night at 7:30. Melvin is in the Navy and they will be married as soon as he returns from over seas. Congratulations, kids!

Peggy Flynn and Russell Noe enjoyed a dinner at Bernsteins Sunday.

Seen with Ralph Mason quite a bit lately is Kay Kelliker.

Saturday night Sherry Van Dalsem and Gloyd Donothan went to the Circle Drive-in in Long Beach.

Judy Moorehead went to the show in Lakewood Saturday night with Wayne Harris.

Barbara Penkunas was seen out with Ralph Chambers over the week-end. What might this lead into? Babs is back in school now, it sure is good to see her back. We miss her singing in first period gym tho.

Donnie Steffans, Walt Boeckler, Tommy Cook, Ronnie Mosby, Ralph Mason, Johnny Andre, Johnny Iwashita, Bill Teague, Roland Signer, Louie Stephens, and Johnny DeBruyn went to Irvine Park Sunday to go horse back riding.

CONTINUE WORK ON CURRICULUM

The curriculum committee which is studying junior high school study schedules has been working every other week at the high school. Dean Criss, Mrs. Arline Schiller, and Thomas Lorenzini from the local staff were guests at the last meeting. Other teachers will be called upon as the program progresses.

Mrs. Castella Rogers, second grade teacher, is a P.T.A. representative on the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. George K. McDonald and two children, Carol five years old and Lee two years old, have moved into the home at 5602 Sprague st. They formerly lived in La Habra Heights. McDonald is employed as a welder in Los Nietos.

Mrs. Frances Irish is home from the hospital and is much improved.

Mrs. Jack Tutor, wife of the pastor of the First Baptist church, is confined at home. She seems to be suffering from the epidemic which has plagued Cypress residents this winter.

Glen McCloud Says

For years, this country has needed a good five-cent cigar, but more pressing than the nickle smoke is relief for the people of the country from Government interference.

With the pattern set by recent attempts of the Federal Government to grab water rights from residents of Fallbrook, I believe the working man is entitled to support his family and have his own home without the fear that the "Trudeal" boys in Washington, D. C. will step in and take away the very water he drinks. That's what they're trying to do down there and I don't like it.

Our country was founded more than 165 years ago by patriots who placed the rights of the common man above those of the Federal Government. It's about time we returned the bulk of government to the States and embraced a few of the "old fashioned" ideas of integrity!
